A TYPICAL DAY ON OUR FRENCH ADVENTURE

Wake up at the private house and snack on whatever you want for breakfast. The house has a full kitchen for our use, and supermarkets are nearby. On diving days, tanks and gear are loaded into vans and brought to the house.

We will conduct an orientation and site briefing at the dive site. Water temperatures are typically around 13 °C, and depths range from a maximum of 7 meters at shallow sites like Font de Truff to depths requiring trimix such as far down the mainline in Ressel. With these conditions, it's best to aim for one good dive a day, although doing two dives is possible and optional. Divers who are stage/deco/rebreather/scooter certified will have the option to apply their skills to appropriate caves.

Some days will include shorter diving days and cultural excursions, and we have scheduled two full days off with visits to local sites of interest. Use evenings to explore the cute town of Gramat, visit restaurants, or relax and cook dinner at the house. turants, cook your own dinner, or rest.
